MARCUS DALY'S LONG SHOT LANDS THE PRIZE.

PATRICIAN EASILY WINS THE PARKVILLE STAKES-PIERRE LORILLARD TO BECOME A DIRECTOR IN THE CONEY ISLAND JOCKEY CLUB.

Nearly 5,000 persons attended the races at Graves and yesterday. The card, in comparison with the rich ones at Sheepshead Bay, was extremely mod-The echoes of the great race between Domine and Clifford are likely to be heard for months. nomino is like split silk, and in condition to meet horse in the world at weight for age. Of course, we had some great horses when we raced at four-mile heats, and in long-distance racing. Now that has proved himself gilt-edged, there are me men who qualify their praise of him by saying he is a good horse as far as he can go. sort of praise is of the left-handed kind, as, in my opinion. FRIGHT CAUSED BY THE STEWARDS. The stewards of the Jockey Club caused many persons to tremble for the future by their action in St. Michael case. J. P. Korn and his trainer, Michael Daly, are practically placed in the same boat with William C. Daly and turned adrift rudderless on the billows of reform. Every harbor under the control of the wearers of the yellow coat closed against them. As William C. Daly and I. P. Korn had cast several anchors to windward sefore the full force of the storm struck them, they are safe for the present, as their craft was well ovisioned for a long cruise. There is nothing left for Michael Daly to do but to board some junk and head his course for Maspeth with the black flag Pierre Lorillard is to become a member directory of the Coney Island Jockey Club. He has several projects for improving the morality of the forf and will endeavor to have vigorous action taken in regard to the methods of some of the foremost racing men. It is likely that he will try to have the Coney Island Jockey Club take the lead in pushing the proposed reforms. There is an air of subdued excitement among the men who were for merly the boldest manipulators on the turf both in the betting ring and in the paddock.

J. J. McCafferty astonished some turfmen at the track yesterday by saying in a quiet way that he would present $10,000 to anybody who could show single instance in his career where he was in collusion, directly or indirectly, with a bookmaker Strange as it may appear the men who are the most anxious to banish McCafferty are bookmakers.

were many conjectures as to the outcome of the Maspeth merry-go-round of day and night racing. Free badges may draw some of the deadwood from the regular tracks, which will not be missed to any appreciable extent. Nearly everybody condemns the affair in unmeasured terms. The fact that the alleged projectors have given promis sory notes as a shield to the real backer of the concern will not save him, as a leading racing official said on Thursday night that the Jockey Club stewards had practically decided on his ex-

HOW THE RACES WERE RUN.

There was nothing to arouse the enthusiasm of the crowd at Brooklyn yesterday afternoon. There was a decided improvement in the starting, though it was not first-class by any means. There is much room for betterment in Mr. Rowe's methods. To be successful as a starter he should forbid the jockeys to wheel and turn in front of the line, and should compel them to take their mounts through and place their horses in their regular positions He should not permit jockeys to go several lengths behind the line to secure, if possible, a flying start. The old and experienced jockeys are the chief offenders at the post

The crowd, as usual, was a betting crowd, who inded up their money to the sixty-one bookmakers line as if it was their bounden duty. The betting mid of the day was made by the merry young Kentuckian, Riley Grannan, who, like the famous John Morgan, made many dashing and successful raids, but was finally taken into camp and after his escape was killed, as the bookmakers figuratively expect to kill Grannan. Senator Grady was selected as the bearer of the plunger's money to the astonishment of the Eastern experts, who, to use smilling John Kelly's expression, "lumbered" on Patrician. It is said that Grannan bet $30,000 on the ill-fated Senator, who fell down in his pre-liminary gallop before the race. Patrician relieved bis backers of suspense and Grannan of his money by winning as he pleased from Sir Knight, who beat Stoneneille a head for second place.

Stonenell, who was a prohibitive favorite for the first race, easily disposed of Correction, who will probably have a rest to fit her for the Morris Park face.

Candelabra carried one of George E. Smith's heavy commissions in the second race. The closing edds on him were 5 to 2. Arab had some following, edds on him were 5 to 2. Arab had some following, while Chattanooga, Miss Dixle, Song and Dance and Madrid were bet on for the place so heavily that the bookmakers hearts were gladdened. There was an unnecessary delay at the post, caused by the jockeys, who by their cagerness to gain an advantage spoiled several chances for a fair start. When the flag did fall there were some uncalled-for Mannatage spoiled several chances for a fair start. When the flag did fall there were some uncalled-for many the face of the flag did fall there were some uncalled-for many the first half-mile, when the flag did fall there were some uncalled-for more flag and to the first half-mile, when Clerico and Miss Dixle took up the running and alternated in the lead until the stretch was reached. When straightened for the run in Doxgett gave Candelabra his head, and he easily disposed of his opponents and won as he pleased at the finish from Miss Dixle, who beat Song and Dance three lengths for the place.

Some heavy betting was the feature of the race for the Seashore Stakes. Halma was the favorite of the Western contingent, while the Eastern bettors were almost a unit in favor of Manchester. Some heavy betting was the feature of the race for the Seashore Stakes. Halma was the favorite of the Seashore stakes and the first half-mile, when the Eastern bettors were condemned to suffer the panse of defeat, as the bookmakers were correspondingly eated at having Salvation thrust upon them, for bettors would not have Salvation at any price, although 30 to 1 straight and 10 to 1 for the pace.

Some the ver Appoint Armitage and Ben Lomond we contest heavily played. The race was an exciting contest from start to finish, with the result that the bettors were left insolvent, as Assignee turned over all their available cash to the many bookmakers, who asked that the parlor-car train he delayed for an hour or so to permit them to count their gains.

AWARDED TO COCOON.

A. B. Darling's game, good horse King Darlington lost a good race, if he really did lose it on its merits, last night by the "finest" sort of a deci-sion. The judging, the starting, the timing and been at this meeting hardly up to Gran. Circuit form. Yesterday there were certainly two verdicts outside of the final heat in the 2-22 class that did and who trotted all the way. As if this were not 2:23 race, the judges called it no heat, and upon precedent, rescinded the decision and placed the orses as they finished. little homestretch and beat him to the wire. Cocoon in the fourth heat. The good, game horse King Darlington won the sixth heat, Cocoon reeling off the fifth, and in the last Major Dickinson's mare and Mr. Parling's stallon fought it out head and head to the finish, Cocoon being awarded the heat and race, the judges deciding that Starr got the brown mare home first by a nose.

KELLY IS STILL A KING.

HIS TEAM HUMBLES THE GIANTS.

THE NEW-YORK PLAYERS START OUT ON THEIR WESTERN TRIP.

GAMES YESTERDAY. Yonkers 10, New-York 5. | Philadelphia (N. L.) 16, Boston 11, Buffalo 3. | Philadelphia (S. L.) 9.

"King" Kelly and his little band of "One Weres" created consternation among the faithful at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Kelly, who had been until this year one of the most conspicuous figures on the green diamond field, bobbed up this year as the leader of the Allentown team of the Pennsylvania League. He gathered together some players of the veteran sort, most of them ex-League "Stars," and he proceeded to rake in the bright shekels from the Pennsylvanians. His team played good baseball, and was transferred recently to the Eastern League, and was stationed at Yonkers. As the grounds at Yonkers could not be made rendy, some games were arranged to be played at the Polo Grounds. Albert L. Johnson, the railroad magnate, and the original "Dinke Dink" of the Players' League, is Kelly's friend, guide and "angel." He winds up the ghost for Kelly when it is time for it to walk.

This should be sufficient introduction for th resurrection of the "King." and now to tell what the King did when he marched upon the green brilliant battles in the past. About 1,500 people went up to the Polo Grounds to witness an exhibition game between a picked team from the Glants and Kelly's Killers. The Glants looked with disgust upon that array of veteran, musty talent, and reveral of the regular players did not don a uniform, including Ward, Davis and Tiernan. But the King smiled wickedly as he acknowledged the plaudits of his old friends, and he muttered something about knocking the conceit out of those young duffers—and he did it, too.

Ward, Davis and Tiernan did not play, and Stafford covered second base, Murphy third, and German right field. Clark and Wilson formed the hattery. Even with this team the chances are that the Glants could have won had they not underestimated the strength of the veterans. Kelly and his players wanted to show their old friends that they could still play ball a little, and, catching the Glants unawares, they beat them out. Here is the score: went up to the Polo Grounds to witness an exhi-

CHESS AND FESTIVITY.

FINE PLAY AND MUCH HILARITY AT LEIPSIC.

THE MASTERS SOMEWHAT SLOW IN GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS AFTER THEIR EN-TERTAINMENT - TARRASCH DEFEATS

WALBRODT AGAIN-RECORD OF

THE SEVENTH ROUND.

Leipsic, Sept. 7 (Special).-After the conclusion of the sixth round of the international chess mas-ter's tournament, played yesterday evening, there was a grand "Fest-Commers" at the Europäiscnet Hof in honor of the competitors. It is needless say that the affair was a complete success, and many humorous speeches, little poems, etc., were well received. Of course there was a lot of drinks seventh round of the tournament, which was sched uled for this morning at 9 o'clock, was somewhat slow in consequence of last night's festival. The players had to cross swords as follows

Seuffert against Mieses, Tarrasch against Walbrodt, Janowsky against Weydlich, Blackburns against Scheve, Baird against Telchmann, Schiffers against Zinkl, Marco against Berger, Lipke against Schlechter and Suechting against Mason Of these games only four were finished, while the remaining five games had to be adjourned at 1 o'clock, to be resumed some other day, As may be readily imagined, the board on which

Tarrasch and Walbrodt were engaged attracted the greatest attention of the spectators. The doctor opened with a King's Knight's Gambit, which Walbroit did not accept. As in the match games be-tween these experts at Nuremberg, the doctor managed to accumulate little advantages, and playing subsequently correctly and cleverly, Walbrodt again to acknowledge defeat, which came after thirty-eight moves. Thus the champion has kept clean score-seven rounds, with two adjourned games to finish, however, Marco's and Berger's lighting tempo in a French

Defence created a little sensation, for when most players were about to settle down for good the announcement came that these competitors had agreed upon a draw, after only thirteen moves had been registered on the scoring sheet. Mieses, who conducted a Double Fianchetto against Seuffert, scored his first win in this tournament against Scuffert. The latter did well for about sixteen moves, when he seriously compromised his position, and after five additional moves he had to give up the fight.

Janowsky easily accounted for Weydlich, who fell back upon the French game as his defence. The Parisian played a spirited game, and at first Weyd-lich got along all right. When eighteen moves had been recorded the latter lost ground, while Janowsky began to press his adversary repeatedly. At last Black's position became hopeless, and Janowsky scored after thirty-one moves.

The other games, namely, Blackburne against Scheve (a stubbornly contested Vienna, opened by the former), Baird against Teichmann (a Spanish game, which the latter defended with 3 . R 3); Schiffers against Zinkl (a French Defence, R 3): Schiffers against Zinkl (a French Defence, played by the latter); Lipke against Schlechter (a Vienna opening, which became highly interesting), and Suechting against Mason (a Ruy Lopez, which the Anglo-American defended with 3 . Kt—K B 3), stood adjourned.

The afternoon was devoted to the finishing of the games left unfinished in previous rounds. Here are the details of these games:

Mason was beaten by Weydlich, Walbrodt and Suechting, after 45, 69 and 49 moves respectively, the openings being irregular, Ruy Lopez and Ruy Lopez.

after seventy-two moves, by superior after seventy game.

Janowsky, who defended a Ruy Lopez with 3. P-Q 3 against Zinkl, scored after forty-six moves by fine play throughout the game.

Tarrasch beat Weydlich in an Evans Gambit Declined after fifty moves in consequence of a great blunder on the part of the loser.

Lipke also beat Mason in a Giuoco Piano after fifty-two moves, the winner getting the best of the game after about twenty-six moves. Schlechter had also to resign a Vienna game to Lipke, who won by a brilliant move in the end game.

Telehmann beat Baird in a Ruy Lopez after eighty-five moves.

richthy-five moves.

The games Tarrasch against Zinkl, Zinkl against Baird, Blackburne against Scheve and Schiffers against Zinkl could not be finished to-day, and will have to be resumed on Tuesday afternoon.

WILLIAM MURRAY, AN EMPLOYE OF AN INSUR ANCE COMPANY, ARRESTED-HORSE-RAC-ING SAID TO HAVE CAUSED

of "Crow" Murray, of No. 287 Bridge-st., Brooklyn, to the Tombs Police Court yesterday, charged with larceny, Murray, who is twenty-eight years old, was employed as a clerk in the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, at No. 54 William-William A. Francis, the manager, accuses him of stealing $112.20. On this complaint he rested at the Central Hotel at Sheepshead Bay, on Thursday. It is alleged that Murray collected the money from William Taite, an insurance broker, at No. 50 Pine-st. to pay a premium to the company, and did not do so. Mr. Francis says that for the last five years Murray has been stealing from the company, and that total amount will reach $16,000. Just how he managed to steal that amount and remain undetected is a mystery that Mr. Francis is now trying to solve. main undetected is a mysec-now trying to solve.

Murray had been in the employ of the company for eleven years, and had always borne a good reputation.

SEVEN HUNDRED DEAD IN ONE COUNTY-CARING FOR THE SURVIVORS.

Barnum, Minn., Sept. 7 .- Dr. Cowan, coroner of Pine County, believes that the death-list in this county will reach 700. Reports come slowly from the searching parties. It is impossible to give a correct statement, even of the bodies already found. Dr. Cowan went to Sandstone yesterday afternoon. He will have the eighty or more bodies that have been temporarily covered with earth there dug up, closely examined and properly buried in the little cemetery near the town. A serious problem for the survivors in this neighborhood is the disposal of the dead animals. The region about Hinckley is littered with the carcasses of horses, cows, hogs, deer and even a few m rible stench from them promises to breed a pestilence among the few people left. Pillsbury, Kenneth Ciark, H. H. Hart, Mr. Norton, of Winena, and C. H. Graves, of this city, members of the State Relief Committee, came here last night and held a meeting. Mayor Eustis represented Minnespolis. The future of the burned district was discussed, as it is impossible that lumbering, which has been the chief industry, will ever amount to much again. The commission will ascertain if there is any chance of the sawmilis being rebuilt. If not, it is planned to rebuild Hinckley as a farming town and junction of two roads, All the territory burned over is ready for the plough, and it was the opinion of the commission that all heads of families can get farms of generous proportions, and the St. Paul and Duluth road representatives offered to give farms to all who do not now own them. It was further outlined that the women and children refugees who are here will be provided for in this city until the fathers can put up temporary buildings in the burned district. Lumber and materials for these buildings will be sent on at once. The State or individuals must provide funds for necessities of life over winter, and to ascertain the amount needed a full and complete census will at once be taken. Single men will be urged and aided to seek work elsewhere, and an effort will be made to have the orphans adopted into wortny families. Those not so cared for will be maintained in State institutions. The commission will look over the situation at Hinckley and other points.

Grantsburg, Wix, Sept. L.—Frank Keene, a lumberman, came to town yesterday and reported that two of his men were burned to death at his lumber camp. The others saved their lives by jumping into a well. A four-horse team hitched to a londed wagon perished. All his camps, dams and logging outfits burned. On his way down he saw the carcasses of seven deer that had been burned to death. Horses and oxen lie dead all through the woods. The exact amount of losses will not be known for some time. here last night and held a meeting. Mayor Eustis represented Minneapolis. The future of the burned port that the bodies of twenty-three Chippewa Indians-bucks, squaws and pappooses-lie upon the baked sands between here and Opstead, a small settlement on the eastern shores of Mille Lacs. They are scattered over ten miles of country, and will in all probability prove food for buzzards and wolves, as the country where they lie is too far from civilization for burial ceremonies. The In-dians left their reservation two months ago, and built a hunting-lodge along one of the forks of Shadridge Creek. Chief Wascouta was the "Big Shadridge Creek. Chief Wascouta was the "Big-Chief" of the party, and he perished with his followers. The first body found by the courier was that of an infant, barely a year old. Then came those of two squaws and five children. They had evidently turned west when the fires swept through the forest. A ride of a mile brought him to a pile of ashes, which marked the site of the hunting camp. There was one tepec, the shrivelled rawhide thongs marking the place where it stood. Around it were the ruins of a half-dozen birchwood bark shantles, and protruding from the ashes were the barreis of rides and shotguns. Then for five miles the pathway was lined with charred bodies. The courier counted twenty-three.

Albany, Sept. 7 (Special).—With the exception of small fire at Raquette Lake, the fires in the a small fire at Raquette Lase, the mess in the Adirondacks were extinguished by a rain on Thursday night. This information was conveyed to the office of the State Forest Commission by letters and telegrams to-day. The fire at Raquette Lake is considered of no particular importance.

The National Bank of North America, of this city, will undertake to receive and forward to the proper parties any funds contributed by charitable citizens for the relief of the sufferers from the fires in Wisconsin and Minnesota.
